THE POWER OF PERSPECTIVE

What Great Leaders See That Others Miss

Conversations that expand perspective when the stakes are high.

BEFORE THE STAGE, THERE WAS THE OPERATING ROOM.

Galen's perspective was not developed on the speaking circuit. It was forged through nearly 30 years inside complex organizations, leading people, brands, businesses, and consequential decisions.

THE POWER OF PERSPECTIVE

What Great Leaders See That Others Miss

Two leaders. Same intelligence.

Same experience. Same information.

Same opportunity. Different result.

What did one see that the other missed?

THE IDEA

Pressure can narrow the very perspective leaders need most. Through stories, questions, operating experience, and audience reflection, Galen helps accomplished leaders examine what pressure, assumptions, and familiarity may have pushed outside the frame.

SEE MORE.

Recognize when pressure, experience, or assumptions are narrowing the frame.

THINK DIFFERENTLY.

Use better questions to surface what the room may be missing before acting.

LEAD DIFFERENTLY.

Expand the perspective of the people whose decisions and futures you influence.

Pressure narrows perspective.

Perspective shapes judgment. Judgment determines action.

ONE SIGNATURE KEYNOTE.

Additional conversations when the moment requires them.

The Power of Perspective

What Great Leaders See That Others Miss

How pressure narrows perspective and what leaders can do to see more clearly before consequential decisions.

OTHER EXECUTIVE CONVERSATIONS

LEADERSHIP UNDER PRESSURE

Protect Judgment When the Stakes Collide

Leadership rarely gets more important than when the stakes are high and the pressures compete. This conversation explores how leaders maintain perspective, make sound decisions, and lead effectively when the demands on their time, attention, and energy are greatest.

THE UNWRITTEN RULES

Performance, Sponsorship, and Power

Results are essential, but they are not sufficient. This research-informed conversation examines the unwritten rules that influence opportunity, sponsorship, access, and advancement, and helps leaders navigate them with greater intention and clarity.

IN THE ROOM

THE CONVERSATION SHOULD CONTINUE AFTER THE KEYNOTE.

Galen's keynotes aren't presentations. They're conversations about things that really matter.

Conversations that widen perspective, challenge familiar assumptions, and change what leaders do next.
